DIVE REPORT –

Thankyou Norm

What a wonderful morning's diving. The weather was as close to perfect as possible and the water was just as good. Except for a bit of swell on the surface, that did cause a bit of surge below, the water was a pleasure to dive in.

With 10-15m viz at both the Coral Gardens and the North wall of Cook Island, with a water temp of 22deg, the fish were out to have as much fun as we were.

Daniel, our newest diver, had a ball as he passed the final parts of his open water cause, congratulations! He also got to see his 1st Nudibranch, Qld Cod, Black Damsel (which also took a swipe at him) and got to scratch the back of a Turtle.

Dolphins were following us back in the boat and it was just an all round fantastic day, even for the single snorkeler on board.
